BANQUET OF NATIONS.

Tribute of British Sailors to Our Naval Officers.

SPEECH OF AMBASSADOR BAYARD.

Our Representative at the Court of St. James Pays a Glowing Tribute to England's Queen, While Lord George Hamilton Lauds President Cleveland.

LONDON, May 25.—The banquet tendered to Admiral Erben, Captain Mahan and the officers of the United States cruiser Chicago by officers of the English navy and army and distinguished citizens of Great Britain was held last night in St. James' hall and was a brilliant success.

The American officers were received by a committee consisting among others of Lord George Hamilton, Admiral E. H. Seymour, Lord Brassey, Viscount Galway, the lord mayor of London, the Duke of Leeds, and Lords Methuen, Hood and Napier

The guests were first conducted into the smaller St. James' hall, which had been converted into a reception room. Here introductions took place and all engaged in an animated conversation for an hour At 8 o'clock the guests entered the banqueting hall. Entwined Union Jacks and Stars and Stripes were placed in many parts of the hall. A banner inscribed, "Blood Is Thicker Than Water" was suspended from the gallery opposite the organ loft.

As the guests entered United States Ambassador Bayard and Admiral Erben were together. They were followed by Captain Mahan and the other officers of the Chicago. The string band of the Royal Marines Light infantry played "Hail Columbia" as the company took their places. At Mr. Bayard's left sat Lord George Hamilton, the chairman. Next sat Admiral Erben, Lord Roberts, the Earl of Darnley, Viscount Sidmouth and Lords Leconfield, Hood, Brassey and Alcester (formerly Admiral Seymour). On the right sat the Earl of Carlisle, Captain Mahan, Admiral Hornby, the Earl of Galloway, the Earl of Minto and Viscount Falmouth. Four tables extending the whole length of the hall, at right angles to the principal table, accommodated the other guests, numbering 300.

Lord George Hamilton offered a toast to the queen and President Cleveland. He said that Queen Victoria and President Cleveland were the heads of the two great English speaking nationalities of the world. President Cleveland was a man of pre-eminent abilities and character, and his fellow citizens recognized the fact by conferring upon him the rare distinction of twice electing him to the highest post to which a citizen of the United States could aspire.

In responding to the toast, "The United States," Ambassador Bayard said he was sincerely grateful for the manner in which in old England the toast to the health of the United States was received. He felt deeply the honor of having been made the envoy of this country and this nation The gracious reception that he had been given on numerous occasions in this great city and elsewhere in Great Britain made him feel the sincerity and reality of the welcome so expressed. In the name of his country and his countrymen he sincerely thanked them for tonight's banquet. It was a happy omen that it came upon the birthday of that benign and gracious lady whose devotion to public duty was clear and beautiful. Her private life endeared her not merely to those whose good fortune it was to live under her benign sway, but to all right minded and right thinking men and women in America, as fully as in England.

Well might the British subject congratulate himself as he contemplated with affectionate admiration the home life of the true mother of her country, whose domestic ties so illustrated her long and happy reign. Turning his eyes across the Atlantic, well might the American of whatever party or race congratulate himself that the virtues of graceful and refined womanhood, of innocent and guileless childhood, of life, integrity and manhood were clustered round the hearthstone of the president of the United States.

He did not feel that this was an ordinary occasion of festivity Hospitalities and courtesies came thick and fast as the blossoms in May, and mutual services were paid in time of need and sympathy, in time of sorrow These, thank God, were exchanged abundantly between the two great branches of the English speaking people It was the men who went deep in ships who knew best the sympathies that bound the hearts of the sailors of the two nations. It was an excellent thing to have a sea power of giants, but it was tyranous to use that power Therefore, step by step, and keeping equal step, let the laws of equal forces and the laws of morals proceed, and whoever should best exercise power in this world remember that power to be safe must ever be in the harness of the law.

Admiral Hornby toasted the United States navy in a felicitous speech, to which Admiral Erben responded. Other speakers were Lord Roberts, Captain Mahan and Admiral Commerell.

A BORDENTOWN MYSTERY.

BORDENTOWN, N. J., May 25.—Miss Lizzie Holloway, 19 years old, was found lying unconscious at her home on Park street, with three ghastly wounds in her head. She died without regaining consciousness. The case is shrouded in mystery, as the young woman's parents were absent at the time. William Massey, a boarder in the house, is under arrest on suspicion.

Latest developments only serve to deepen the mystery. By the autopsy performed a motive for the murder of the girl was discovered. The skull was found to have been fractured, and death had resulted from the blows. A further examination revealed the fact that the girl was pregnant, and that she had been in that condition for some time.

So far the police have been unable to find any evidence of the guilt of Massey. Massey stated that he was in the house at the time the assault was committed, but that he had seen no one or had met no one when he ran to the assistance of the girl on hearing her scream. The police, after a close investigation, have arrived at the conclusion that it would be impossible for any one to have committed the murder without being bespattered with blood. They believe that if they can find the man who is responsible for the ruin of the girl they will have the man who committed the murder.

Engineer and Fireman Terribly Burned.

GALESBURG, Ills., May 25—When the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy fast train was four miles east of Kewanee the glass in the lubricator can broke and instantly three quarts of kerosene was spilled through the cab, and the next moment the whole interior of the cab was in flames. Fireman Ed Martin was quickly ablaze, and with the flames streaming from his clothes rushed to the water tank, raised the cover and jumped in, extinguishing the flames. Engineer Giddins, after stopping the train, leaped from his engine and rolled around in the wet grass. Martin's clothes, save his undershirt, were destroyed. He was horribly burned, and is in a precarious condition. Giddins' left hand was badly burned and his clothes burned off.

Alleged Bigamist Acquitted.

CHESTER, Pa., May 25.—Henry W. Lott, who claims to live in Arkansas, was arrested by Chief Bagshaw upon instructions from the chief of police of Memphis, Tenn., charging him with bigamy. He came to this city with a 16-year-old girl, who gave her name as Mollie Buie, whom he swore at the hearing was his wife, and that they were married in Tennessee. As no evidence could be produced to refute this, and as the laws of Tennessee permit marriage at the age given by the girl, Alderman Berry was obliged to dismiss Lott. A little boy who accompanied him was kept in custody by the police, and will be returned to Memphis.

An Anti-Ramsay Victory.

DENVER, May 25.—The Railroad Telegraphers' convention, by a vote of 70 to 52, decided to seat D R Brown, of Buffalo, manager of the campaign of Thomas B McMahon for the position of grand chief. This is regarded as a victory for the anti-Ramsay forces Grand Chief Ramsay presented his annual report, in which he told in full the story of his indictment and acquittal on a charge of having conspired to cut the wires of the Cedar Rapids railroad, with which the order was having trouble.

The Cook Poisoned the Meat.

HARTFORD CITY, Ind., May 25—Nellie Weaver, 16 years old, had a preliminary examination here on the charge of attempted murder. She was cook in the family of D A Walmer, a merchant at Montpelier, eight miles north. She confessed that she poisoned meat which Walmer, his wife and two children ate, and were only saved from dying by physicians. Her object, she said, was to kill Mrs. Walmer, who had scolded her She was sent to jail to await trial in the circuit court.

Indiana's Populist Nominees.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25—The state convention of the People's party made the following nominations: Secretary of state, Dr. C. A Robinson; auditor, Edgar A. Perkins; treasurer, A. B. Keepert; attorney general, Silas M. Holcolmb; clerk of supreme court, J. Harvey Montgomery; superintendent of public instruction, A. J. Allen; state statistician, W. P. Welsh; state geologist, Edward Kindle; supreme court judge Fourth district, D. W. Chambers of New Castle.

"Entirely Cured."

The following letter is from Mrs. J. B. Nickel, 428 West 49th street, New York City: "I was always troubled with sick headaches and could have nothing done for them. Finally I concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. After using one bottle I felt much better and before my second bottle was gone I did not have any pain in my head, so I am entirely cured."

JAIL BREAKING PREVENTED.

The Plot Revealed by the Confession of a Prisoner.

NEW YORK, May 25.—By the confession of a convict Brooklyn has been spared the unwelcome intrusion upon its streets of several hundred desperate men. This convict on Monday last detailed to Warden Hayes a plan by which a wholesale jail delivery was to have taken place.

Recently forty Indians and half breeds were sent to the penitentiary from the west. Their crimes ranged from horse stealing to murder. Their plan was that on Tuesday morning there was to be a simultaneous uprising of the convicts in all of the shops. The keeper in charge was to be hit on the head, the keys of the prison secured, and freedom gained. It was also proposed to loot the tailor shop.

Warden Hayes is said to have found evidence which corroborated the informant's story. Who this man is he will not tell.

The Trial of the Guttenburg Officials.

JERSEY CITY, May 25.—Judge Lippincott has appointed next Thursday for the beginning of the trial of the Guttenberg race track officials and police officers indicted for maintaining a disorderly house at the race track. Allen L. McDermott, counsel for the defendants, says they are ready for trial. Among the defendants are County Clerk Dennis McLaughlin, ex-Police Superintendent C. P. Smith, Gottfried Walbaum, John N. Crusius and John E Carr, Police Captain John F Kelly, Roundsman Gannon and several patrolmen.

O'Mally's Case Postponed.

CROWN POINT, Ind., May 25.—Dominick O'Mally's prize fight case came to an abrupt end. Thomas Stefins, one of the jurymen from Lake Station and a justice of the peace, was found guilty of playing cards and drinking with Billy Woods, the prize fighter, Wednesday night. The jury had been warned by the court to shun such places. The jury was discharged and the case put over to the September term. Juryman Stefins was put under bonds to appear for trial.

The Brazil-Portugal Affair.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Brazilian minister, Senor Mendonca, has received no confirmation of the report which comes from Rio to the effect that the diplomatic breach between Brazil and Portugal had been healed, and that all differences growing out of the extension to Da Gama the right of asylum by Portuguese naval commanders had been amicably adjusted.

Carnot Calls M. Peytral.

PARIS, May 25.—M. Peytral had a conference lasting one hour with President Carnot, and at the expiration of that time he informed the president that he thought the task of forming a cabinet was beyond his power. He will confer with his colleagues, however, and give his answer later.

Murderer Morris Dead.

CAMDEN, N J., May 25.—George Morris, who a year ago was sentenced to twenty years at hard labor by Judge Garrison for the murder of Ella Ford in this city, died at the New Jersey state prison, at Trenton, from general debility caused by the wounds he had received during the rebellion.

Flood Damage Renewed.

GENESEO, N. Y., May 25.—It began raining hard early yesterday morning and continued all day, and will probably cause the river to again overflow its banks. The damage that has already been done will foot up in the thousands. A bridge over the creek at Pifford has been carried away!

Galvin's Army Leaves York.

YORK, Pa., May 25—Galvin's army, 125 strong, left here over the Baltimore turnpike en route to Washington. They were fed by contribution from the citizens while here. They were given a police escort to the outskirts of the city.

Barn Burned by Tramps.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., May 25.—The barn of Harry Russwick, at West Point, Gwynedd township, was destroyed by fire through the carelessness of tramps who spent the night in the hay. The live stock was saved.

SENATORIAL SCANDAL.

The Sugar Trust's Interest in the Tariff Bill.

EXAMINING THE NEWSPAPER MEN.

Edwards and Others Reiterate Published Statements of Alleged Corrupt Practices, but Decline to Reveal the Source of Their Information.

WASHINGTON, May 25. — The senate bribery investigation committee yesterday began the second and by far the most important branch of the investigation for which the committee was created, the inquiry into the connection of the sugar trust with the tariff legislation. E. J. Edwards, the author of the "Holland" letter in the Philadelphia Press, was before the committee for several hours.

Owing to the fact that the committee sat behind closed doors, it has been impossible to obtain a detailed account of the inquiry. It is known, however, that Mr Edwards presented a written memorandum giving some of the sources of the information contained in his letter, and stating that he could not give his authority in other cases, as it would be a breach of faith.

He declined to state his authority for the information contained in his letter to the effect that Secretary Carlisle had appeared before the tariff sub-committee, consisting of Senators Jones, Vest and Mills, before the original senate bill was reported, and had insisted that sugar be given protection because of the party pledges made previous to election, or for the statement that Mr Carlisle himself had revised and written the sugar schedule.

He stated that he understood that this schedule as prepared by Mr. Carlisle was still in existence, and suggested that if it were it could be obtained. He intimated that it was his opinion that this fact could be definitely ascertained by summoning members of the finance committee. He said that his authority was such as to satisfy him of the truth of the statements made.

Other statements in his letter, the authority for which Mr. Edwards declined to give, were those that $500,000 was the amount contributed by the sugar trust to the Democratic campaign fund in 1893, and that a member of the firm of Moore & Schley, who he said in his letters were Senator Brice's brokers, had been in possession of the latest amendments which had been agreed upon to the tariff bill before the time when Senator Voorhees still insisted on the floor of the senate that no amendments had been agreed to.

After a brief conference the committee decided to postpone consideration of excusing Mr. Edwards from divulging his authority for certain of his statements until today to allow Judge Dittenhoefer, his attorney, to consult the authorities bearing upon th case.

John S. Shriver, the Washington correspondent of the New York Mail and Express, was also before the committee. He was examined in regard to a dispatch which appeared in his paper on May 19, in which he stated that an interview between certain United States senators and members of the sugar trust held in a parlor of the Arlington hotel had been overheard by a wire manufacturer who occupied the adjoining room. After acknowledging that he had written the dispatch Mr. Shriver was asked the name of his authority and also the name of the wire manufacturer mentioned in his dispatch.

Mr Shriver said that the story had been given him by a congressman, but he declined either to give his name or the name of the wire manufacturer, his reasons being that the congressman who gave him the story for publication did not wish to be brought into the scandal or to be called upon to testify, and had made witness promise not to reveal his name. The committee tried by various methods to make Mr. Shriver disclose his authority, but without success.

Mr Shriver said that the wire manufacturer on the morning after the conference met the congressman and seemed in an excited state of mind He slapped the congressman on the shoulder and remarked that now he was certain that the Wilson bill would never pass, because the night before he had occupied a room next to that occupied by some sugar trust men and he had overheard enough of the conversation to lead him to believe that the tariff bill was dead

After Mr Shriver was excused Mr. Harry W. Walker Washington correspondent of the St Louis Post-Dispatch, was called and asked to state where he had obtained the information published by him in a dispatch in which he had stated that a prominent member of the cabinet, and had intimated that the president himself, had confessed that the Democratic party was under obligations to the sugar trust Mr. Walker also confirmed Mr. Shriver's story about the occurrences at the Arlington hotel between members of the sugar trust and certain senators, saying that he had also received his information from a member of the house Like Mr. Shriver, he declined to give the name of the congressman who had given him the information

The committee is devoting today's session to the problem of deciding what to do with the newspaper writers who refuse to divulge the authority for portions of the information which they had used in their papers Upon the decision will depend to a certain extent the future progress of the committee's work

THE NATIONAL LAWMAKERS.

Executive and Judicial Appropriation Bill Passed by the House.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—After being under consideration for just one week the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was passed by the house yesterday. The main fight was in the house after the bill had been reported back from the committee of the whole on the amendment declaring the laws authorizing the docking of members' salaries for absence repealed and on the amendment refusing to provide for the civil service commission. Separate yea and nay votes were demanded on these amendments, when the first was lost by a vote of 104 to 128 and the latter by 80 to 158. Another amendment, agreed to in committee of the whole, which was designed to still further emasculate the civil service commission, was defeated in the house without division, as was also the amendment to equalize the salaries of the assistant doorkeepers of the house.

The senate proceedings were enlivened by a short debate on Hawaii and a very sarcastic speech from Mr. Hale on Mr. Gorman's speech of Wednesday. It was after 3 o'clock when the senate got down to actual work on the schedules. Very fair progress was made, eight pages being disposed of. The surprise of the day was the acceptance by the finance committee of an amendment offered by Mr. Allen, the Nebraska Populist, to place barbed wire on the free list. Several Republicans opposed it, but did not carry their opposition to the extent of demanding a record making vote upon it. An intimation from Mr Hoar that free barbed wire was to be the price of Mr Allen's vote for the tariff bill was indignantly denied.

Non-Unionists Terribly Beaten.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., May 25.—There is a very ugly feeling among the union miners over the report that the owners will attempt to reopen the gold mines within a few days with non-union miners, protected by armed deputies. Yesterday John Thomas and Thomas H. Jones, suspected of being non-union men, were set upon by the strikers, knocked down and terribly beaten. Thomas escaped with five bad scalp wounds and a depression of the skull. Jones is missing, and it is feared he is lying in some secluded place dead or seriously wounded.

A Virginia Desperado Killed.

STAUNTON, May 25.—A tragedy is reported from Greenville, in this county. Henry Weeks, who bore the reputation of a dangerous man, was shot in the right breast with a Winchester rifle by Benjamin Hite, a neighbor, with whom he had engaged in a quarrel. The two met by accident at the house of a friend and an old feud was renewed. Weeks picked up a chair and started towards Hite, who without putting his rifle to his shoulder pulled the trigger, killing Weeks almost instantly. Hite promptly surrendered.

Presbyterian Union Defeated.

SARATOGA, N. Y., May 25.—The "flirtation" between the northern and southern Presbyterian churches has come to an abrupt close. The offer of organic union has been rejected by the southern body, and each will now continue to pursue its separate way The Smith trial has been begun in the general assembly, and will probably continue until tomorrow noon. The argument of Professor Smith was a great effort, but it was almost pathetic, being addressed to an audience not at all sympathetic.

Altgeld Orders Out the Troops.

CENTRALIA, Ills., May 25—Five hundred striking miners went to the Big Four mine, demolished considerable of the machinery and filled the shaft with about fifteen feet of wreckage, dump carts and other loose material about the mine. Every glass and sash in the building was smashed The mob then went to Odion to repeat their work of destruction, but were driven off by deputy sheriffs Fully a hundred of the strikers have been arrested. Governor Altgeld has ordered out troops.

Cherry Released from Custody.

WASHINGTON, May 24. — Matthew A. Cherry, the crank who interrupted the proceedings of the house a few days ago by declaring from the gallery that fire and lightning would destroy the Capitol, White House and treasury if the Coxey bills were not immediately passed, was examined by a marshal's jury yesterday and pronounced mildly insane It was thought, however, that his mania would not assume a dangerous character, and he was released from custody

FOUR STRIKERS KILLED

Another Bloody Conflict in the Coke Region.

THE DEPUTIES OBEYED ORDERS.

They Were Instructed to Shoot to Kill, and Met the Mob with Bullets—Eight Strikers Wounded, Some of Them Mortally—Three Deputies Slightly Hurt.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., May 25.—The long threatened attack by striking miners on the pits of the Washington Coal and Coke company at Stickle Hollow, in the fourth pool district, on the Monongahela river, was made yesterday, involving another of the grim tragedies that characterize the irrepressible conflict. The fight was one of the fiercest in the history of the mining troubles in western Pennsylvania, and in the section where it occurred, as well as throughout the whole coke region, the situation it has developed is one of the most intense excitement and dread uncertainty. Four strikers are lying dead, and double that number are badly wounded, some of them mortally. Thomas Kenan, of Wood's Run, is the only American killed in the encounter with the Slavs. The wounded men, who fell under the first volley of the deputies, were taken off the field by the retreating strikers, and even now the actual number of wounded is not definitely known, their friends having the strongest motives for concealing them. They will not even claim their dead, and nobody has come forward to speak for the remains of the poor fellows who were killed.

John Troy, of Fayette City, was badly wounded, and will die He is a prominent citizen of that place, and was formerly a school director.

It is perhaps too soon to attempt to apportion the responsibility for the killing. In the mass of confessed and contradictory statements there is testimony to show that the strikers, while threatening an attack, had committed no overt act of lawlessness beyond the possible offense of unlawful assembly; that the deputies fired on them absolutely without provocation that would warrant the use of deadly weapons, and that some of the killings were particularly cruel and unjustifiable. Then there is equally abundant testimony to show that the deputies simply defended themselves and their charge from the rushing assault of an armed and bloodthirsty mob. The strikers furnished all the dead men; not a deputy was fatally hurt, and only three of them wounded.

The fight occurred in the public roadway leading to the Stickle Hollow plants. Two thousand strikers, after camping near the works all night, came out there to intercept the men on their way to work, induce them to come out and help win the strike. A few of them carried Winchesters, while fully fifty others were armed with shotguns, muzzle loading rifles and revolvers. Because of their threatening demonstrations and the fact that they had given notice to the company that they had come to drive off the deputies, if necessary, there were ball cartridges in the Winchesters carried by the guards, and the entire outfit at the works was in general readiness to receive raiders. The deputies had specific orders, and it is admitted that the company had conveyed to them directions to shoot to kill.

When the workmen on the way to the pits came to where the strikers were gathered on the road they were asked to go home They were about to do so when the deputies rushed into the midst of the crowd, got possession of the men and marched them to the pit. A deputy sheriff in doing this fired a shot, which started the battle. There was then volley after volley fired by each side at close range.

The strikers stood their ground while their comrades were falling one by one, but their ammunition gave out and they were forced to give up the fight and retreat to escape the rain of bullets from the Winchesters. It is said the strikers were advancing on the line of deputies when the latter fired the first shot.

Sixty-six of the strikers were placed under arrest and are now in jail, in charge of twenty-five deputies. The men are nearly all native born citizens, intelligent looking, and several of them are known to be men of influence and good reputation in the fourth pool district.

Mr. Rainey has ordered four Gatling guns for his plants. One arrived yesterday and was put in position at once. The shells for the guns are already here

The situation at the Hill Farm, where the company has been defying the strikers and running full handed, under the gaze of a camp of 300 strikers, is alarming. Strikers from the southern end of the region marched to Hill Farm and joined the men who have been camped there, and are said to be planning an attack on the works The plants are guarded by fifty deputy sheriffs The strikers say they cannot expect to win as long as some plants are allowed to run, and are determined to force all the plants to shut down, regardless of the loss of life it may occasion

The killing has had an effect on the strikers in the coke region that may develop grave results The region has been full of marching strikers all day. At 5 o'clock last evening a car load of new men was run into the Kyle plant The strikers gathered around the men and drove them from the works with a rush The men became confused and took to the country, scattering in every direction. The strikers are defiant, [illegible]

The [illegible] over the killing [illegible] are showing [illegible] on general [illegible] are changing [illegible] in the strike [illegible] against the march [illegible] advised against it, requesting the men to remain away from the plants, and to stay at home. Yesterday he took a different stand, and issued an address calling on the strikers to keep on marching, and advising them to meet frequently A thousand strikers were around the Jimtown plant yesterday, but did no violence. Four hundred of them left last night and will march around the southwest plants today.

EMIN PASHA'S DAUGHTER.

She Is Half Abyssinian and Lives In Berlin.

Emin Pasha's sister Fraulein Melanie Schnitzer, who lives in Berlin, is the guardian of the great explorer's little 8-year-old daughter, Ferida Lataran, as the courts have decided the child must be called, was born Nov. 26, 1886. Her mother, the second wife of Emin Pasha, was an Abyssinian woman of the name of Lataran.

EMIN PASHA'S DAUGHTER.

The mother died in 1889, and the 3-year-old child was taken to Bagamoyo by her father and left there while he went on another expedition into the interior of the dark continent.

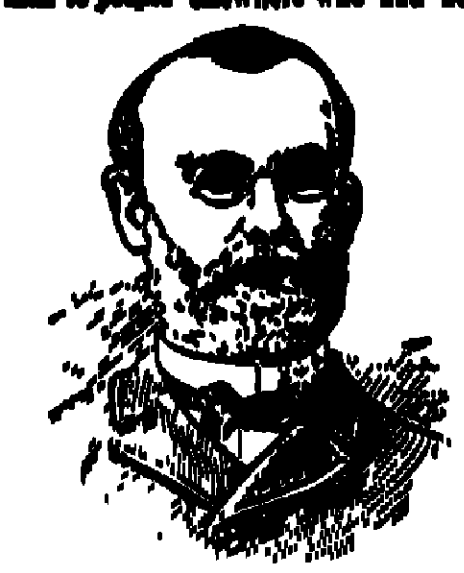

Later the child became the charge of Fraulein Schnitzer, who not long since went with her to settle down in Berlin for the benefit of superior medical attendance and better educational advantages. Ferida has a delicate constitution, which it is hoped to make more robust by careful and judicious treatment, and if her health and life are spared she will be an illustrious example of the triumph of German pedagogy. Her philological talents have already been developed to such a degree that she can speak French, Italian and German, besides Arabic and Kisuahili, her mother tongue.

Ferida is an extraordinarily intelligent and amiable child. Her face, surrounded by a profusion of raven black hair, is expressive of great mildness of disposition and sweetness of temper. It is a curious fact that she takes no delight in the romps and games of her playmates, nor does she care much for the numerous dolls and playthings with which she is constantly being presented. Her pleasantest hours are those spent in the classroom. She has an invincible antipathy for meat and potatoes, but is very fond of eggs, milk and farinaceous foods.

SOLDIER AND STATESMAN.

General Jacob D. Cox Honored by His Comrades of the Loyal Legion.

The recent announcement from Cincinnati that ex-President Harrison had been succeeded as commander of the Loyal Legion of Ohio by "General Jacob D. Cox, dean of the Cincinnati Law school," was more significant perhaps to residents of that city and its vicinity than to people elsewhere who had not special information in relation to the gentleman thereon alluded to. Many will doubtless be surprised to learn that the man whose identity is thus modestly set forth is none other than Jacob Dolson Cox, who was President Grant's first secretary of the interior and had been governor of Ohio, who made a brilliant reputation as a soldier in the civil war, and whose latest prominence in national affairs had been gained as a member of the Forty-fifth congress.

As long ago as 1859 General Cox had gained sufficient reputation to be placed on the Ohio senate on the Republican ticket, and he remained a member of that body until the outbreak of the war, when he was commissioned a brigadier general and ordered to West Virginia to fight under Rosecrans. He was promoted major general in 1862, served under Sherman in the Atlanta campaign in 1864, and commanded a division at the battle of Nashville. "Shave your Soap"—so the soap makers say, especially if you're washing delicate things. Now, in the name of common sense what's the use? When you can get Pearline, in powder form for this very reason, why do you want to work over soap, which, if it's good for anything, gets very hard and difficult to cut. Besides, Pearline is vastly better than any powdered soap could be. It has all the good properties of any soap—and many more, too. There's something in it that does the work easily, but without harm—much more easily than any other way yet known.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—send it back. JAMES PYLE, New York.

LISTEN!

"LISTEN" may not be good grammar in asking you to read something in a newspaper, but the object is to attract your attention, and the word is striking. So many things in the way of new publications have been offered, and they have been so shrewdly advertised, that how to tell of something really the greatest thing yet,

Something Everybody Should Read,

Is a difficult thing to do. Yet, if you only could listen, it would have the effect of making you resolve to get the latest publication, which is called

"America's Greatest Men and Women."

AMERICA'S GREATEST MEN AND WOMEN.

This is what it is: It is a work in 16 parts, of 16 pages each, each page containing a portrait reproduced from a recent photograph of some American man or woman, prominent in the affairs of the country, and still living. Beneath each photograph so reproduced is a short, but complete and graphic story of the life of such person up to the present time. The series will thus include the valuable portraits, as they look to-day, of the 256 leading people on this continent, and also the story of their lives. Think how valuable such a work must be to anybody! Think how interesting it must be to anybody!

That is all. That is all there is to say. It is the most remarkable work of the present age. It is a new departure in publication. It is something that ought to be in every household, that the children of every household should study, and that should be read by everybody assuming to be intelligent and up to the times.

You Can Get This Work Only Through the Daily Argus and Mercury.

HERE ARE the TERMS.

HOW LEAD PENCILS ARE MADE.

Each Company Has Its Own Process and Uses Secret Machinery.

"There is probably less known about the manufacture of lead pencils than any other extensive manufacturing business," said John M. Brady of New York. "I say extensive business, for many people do not know that there is as much as $2,500,000 expended for lead pencils in the United States every year. All the machinery used in the production of lead pencils is a carefully guarded secret. It is not patented, but each company has its own process, and very little is known of it by outsiders. The general idea of the method of manufacture can be given.

"The graphite, plumbago or black lead, whichever you may call it, comes from three places—India, Germany and one part of the United States. The American lead is considered the most pure, having about one-third more carbon and much less silica than the foreign article. The plumbago as mined is brought to the factory, where the silica is separated from the graphite by a system similar to that employed in separating free gold from ore. It is crushed into a fine powder and then mixed with water, which flows over 'bumper tables.' The weight of the lead causes it to collect on the tables, and the silica and lesser materials flow off with the water. The lead is then taken and mixed with clay in a mortar.

"The clay is used as a temper in the lead. The more clay used the harder the lead becomes, as when the mixture is baked the heat affects the clay, hardening it, while it has no effect upon the graphite. The mixture is then placed in a hydraulic press, which forces it out like a black twine. This is run upon tables, where it is cut in lengths of 7 inches, the length of a regular lead pencil, and straightened. It is then placed in the oven. I have seen a continuous piece of this mixture of clay and graphite a mile long come from the press. The pieces of lead are taken from the oven and placed in the wood, which is made in two pieces, then cemented together. There is a peculiar fact about cedar, the wood most suitable for pencils. The farther south you go to obtain the wood the less ... you find and the less pitch in the wood. As you come north the amount of pitch increases, and the grain of the wood becomes irregular."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

What a Woodpile Indicates.

What a satisfaction it is to see a generous, whole-souled woodpile! It gives one a better opinion of the world and brings up a rich flood of memories and associations. One has no need to be told that the owner is the father of half a dozen boys and girls, and that the neighbors like to gather under his roof during the long winter evenings, when the snow and wind outside but emphasize the warmth and cheer within.

One has no need to call on the imagination to see the great pile of extra logs in the corner, waiting their turn at the fiery carnival, dancing and glowing in the fireplace, or the half circle of merry story tellers gathered about the hearth eating apples and cracking nuts and exchanging experiences of farming and hunting with each other.

What an open large-hearted hospitality such profusion of wood suggests! It never occurs to one that the owner may be niggardly or churlish. Such a pile of wood can only belong to a man whose heart is large enough to take in the whole neighborhood.

But what a contrast is the woodpile across the way!—a few sticks that even the house dog refuses to sleep behind. No wonder the boys are ... and the girls weak and discontented. One can scarcely imagine a smile or a bit of laughter, or a jest passing through a door that overlooks such a pile.—Donahoe's Magazine.

Made by Thunderbolts.

In the museums of nearly all the large colleges you will see what appear to be sandy petrifactions much resembling branches of trees. You may conclude that these are the remains of forest monsters that grew in a faraway geological age, but if you will take the trouble to ask your guide, or, better still, one of the professors, who are always handy, he will tell you a queer story—one, in fact, that smacks of the marvelous. These tree looking, supposed to be ... petrifactions are, in fact, real ... "Scientifically speaking, they are 'fulgurites.'" They are composed of a pure quality of glass and are made by the lightning striking ... sand ... which ... Couldn't Call It a Cold House.

The best perhaps of the many stories that have long been current regarding the late Lord Crewe in that serenity in which he was a conspicuous ... is, in the opinion of a writer in The Speaker, that of his remark to his sister, the first Lady Houghton, as they stood watching the fire which all but destroyed his noble ancestral home. "Well, Annabel, you have often said Crewe was a cold house, but you can't call it that now." Crewe was restored at enormous cost by Brown, and it is now one of the most beautiful houses in the world.

HOMER SARVIS AT GREYCOURT.

Said to Have Slept in Landlord Proctor's Barn, Monday Night—Traced to Craigville

Homer Sarvis, the Newburgh bridge bandit, for whose arrest Marshal Sarvis, of that city, has offered a reward of $100, is said to have been seen at Greycourt, Monday evening where he spent the night in John R. Proctor's hotel barn. It is said that he left there early Tuesday morning and went to Craigville to a house of questionable reputation. Word to this effect was sent to Marshal Sarvis and two Newburgh officers were sent to the house. In the meantime, Mr. W. H. Wood, of Chester, had heard of Homer's visit and in company with several others, he visited the place about 2 o'clock, Wednesday morning, but a thorough search of the house and premises failed to reveal their man. The Newburgh officers, therefore, returned without making a search.

It is said that Sarvis was badly cut by the glass in the window through which he escaped on the night of the murder of Groceryman Henderson, and that it was with difficulty that his friends assisted him to a place of safety, where he has been in hiding ever since the murder.

ORANGE COUNTY COURT.

A Verdict Against a Middletown Woman

The only case tried before Judge Beattie at Goshen, yesterday, was the suit of Thomas J. Quick, of Port Jervis, against Anna B. Krempf, of Middletown. The action was brought by Mr. Quick for the recovery of household goods, claimed by him to be sold and delivered to the defendant, who resides in Middletown.

The defense to the action was that the goods were not purchased by the defendant, but by one Samuel A Elwell, who was once a detective in these parts, and that he therefore should pay for the goods. Mr. Elwell was present and substantiated the story of Mrs. Krempf.

The jury, however, accepted Mr. Quick's statement of the case and were out but a short time, when they returned with a verdict in Mr. Quick's favor, allowing him the full amount claimed.

Court adjourned until Monday next.

TUBERCULOSIS AMONG FOWLS.

More Than 400 of ex-Vice President Morton's Plymouth Rocks Killed.

Mr. Levi P. Morton's fine stock farm at "Ellerslie," his country seat just south of Rhinebeck, N. Y., has again been visited by a malady that threatens the ex Vice President with serious loss, and opens up a very important question for the consideration of health officers. A few months ago, many of his fine herd of Guernsey cattle were killed because they were found to be suffering from tuberculosis, and now the same disease has attacked his poultry and more than 400 fine fowls have been and cremated

Mr. Morton keeps a very large number of fowls on his farm and a few weeks ago a strange disease broke out among them which Mr. Seeley, the superintendent of the poultry department, and other experts decided was tuberculosis and investigating its cause they found that the affected fowls, white Plymouth Rocks, had roamed in the same fields in which the tuberculosis cattle had been pastured.

The malady spread with alarming rapidity and to save the other fowls all that showed symptoms of the disease, or that had been exposed to its contagion, were killed.

Looking for His Mother Under Flag-Stones.

The Callicoon Democrat says that J. F. Condon, a Binghamton printer, who arrived in that village, Saturday night, created some excitement, Sunday, by going about the streets in the pouring rain looking for his mother under every flagstone that he could lift. He was taken in charge by the Overseer of the Poor and developed a first class case of jim jams. He had been on a three weeks' spree and had lost a whole week in his reckoning He was sent back to Binghamton.

—A new Emerson piano has been placed in the home of Chas. Tice, on Union street.

—Mr. and Mrs. George Crans became the proud parents of a daughter on Sunday.

—Wm. McNeal, Jr., spent Wednesday and Thursday in the Metropolis.

—Mrs. Ward Winfield is very sick at her home on Union strett.

—The M. E. Church is being painted, which adds much beauty to the exterior appearance of that edifice. The work is being done by Goshen painters but many of the congregation denounce the officials of the church for patronizing foreign trade. The money was mostly raised in Montgomery and the church is here and here the money should have stayed.

—This week the 65th anniversary of the Methodist Church is being celebrated, meetings being held nearly every evening during the week. A newspaper has been published called the Sixty-Fifth Anniversary and is a very neat specimen of the printers' art. The sheet contains many "ads." from Walden, Newburgh and Montgomery and was published from the Journal office in Newburgh. Again is illustrated the fact that you should patronize home trade. It is rumored that the printing was taken away from home on account of the price being about two dollars cheaper. I think there is a little practical christianity needed here.

—The new house of Mr. H. VanAlst, on Union street, is nearly completed.

Virginia's Municipal Elections.

RICHMOND, May 25 — The municipal elections throughout Virginia yesterday passed off quietly There was little interest save at Norfolk where a sharp contest had been waged and where the Prohibitionists' reform ticket triumphed over the straight Democratic organization by a majority of from 1,000 to 1 500 A reform ticket was also chosen at Basic City over the regular Democratic nominee by a majority of 44 An unusually large vote was polled at Charlottesville, though there was no excitement there. The election here in Richmond was a mere form to confirm the result of the Democratic primary of some weeks ago. Generally the results were like that here.

Invading Strikers Repulsed.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan, May 25—Captain Steve Ryan, of Napoleon Mo, and 100 of his striking miners were marched through this city last evening in charge of Sheriff Rothenburger and hundreds of citizens and compelled to cross over the new steel bridge into Missouri, from whence they came The rest of the mob gave up the invasion at Wallula, twelve miles south of this city, and are retracing their steps to Kansas City The invaders had come here for the purpose of driving out the working miners

Bavaria's Condition Unendurable.

In the lower house of the diet at Munich Prince Loewenstein read a declaration dwelling upon the immense burdens imposed by the military administration, which undoubtedly brought prejudice to the national prosperity. The present situation, he said, was almost unendurable, and the existing system was all the sadder as no guarantee could be given against further larger demands upon the people in view of the keen competition between European nations in making war preparations. The prince advocated an international court of arbitration as the sole means of salvation from the present situation. Dr. Buhl, however, contended that the best security for European peace was the maintenance of the preparedness of the army and the true observance of faithful alliances.—London Standard

London Streets.

The [illegible] of the London Gas company has found that in some streets the [illegible] of wood blocks laid on concrete [illegible] forms a kind of arch capable of supporting traffic, while in many places the earth has settled away to such an extent that a man can crawl under the pavement This is made a serious matter by the fact that the space between the soil and the concrete proves to be filled by a mixture of gas from leaky mains and air—a mixture very liable to reach explosive proportions and to be accidentally ignited, when the street might be blown into the air.—London Globe.

To Adopt the American System.

A London correspondent says the government will probably grant a strong petition recently presented for the appointment of a commission to consider the adoption of the American patent system in England. The chief point at issue is whether a system of preliminary examinations into the novelty of inventions should be introduced. Legal and scientific opinions are keenly and pretty evenly divided on the subject.

Stirred Up by the Queen Regent.

A good deal of attention has been attracted to a reported utterance by the queen regent of Spain, to the effect that the friendship which she must cultivate was that of France. Those words have been reprinted by the official organ in Madrid of the government, with the result that the German and Austrian press have been much exercised over the matter.—Madrid Letter.

FRIDAY, MAY 25, 1894.

Pennsylvania Republicans say they expect 200,000 majority for their State ticket. To get such a majority they will need the votes of all the "protected" miners and coke workers, and they mustn't let the deputies kill off too many of them either.

The petition for equal suffrage of Mrs. A. E. Searing and 4,825 others of Ulster county, (2,940 women and 1,885 men) was presented to the constitutional convention, yesterday. The vote of Ulster county in 1893, was 16,342, so that the petition, large as it seems, stands for a very small proportion of the men and women of Ulster county.

Gov. Flower vetoed the bill forbidding the display of any foreign flag on any public building, because such legislation is "small, narrow and clannish." He well says that no American of foreign birth or descent is made any the less an American by the sight of the flag of his fatherland, and if "American patriotism is of such weak stamina that it can be allured by foreign bunting, legislation like this cannot save it from speedy and utter ruin."

Dr. Phelps, a New York police surgeon who aspires to become an authority on gunshot wounds, has been making some interesting but decidedly ghastly experiments at the morgue, — firing bullets into the heads of the bodies of unknown dead at different angles and distances, and then dissecting the heads to see what courses the bullets took and to what extent they shattered the skulls. The experiments are sanctioned by the Charity Commissioners on the ground that they are in the interest of science.

The Constitutional Convention has barely begun its work, yet it is already overwhelmed with all sorts of propositions to amend and alter the State's organic law. Many of the propositions are without sense or merit and the only reason for their introduction is the desire of their authors to achieve a little cheap notoriety. It is safe to assume that there are among the delegates only a few out and out cranks, but it will require eternal vigilance on the part of the levelheaded delegates to suppress the one-idea men and prevent them making a burlesque of the convention and its work.

Delegates representing 200 cities and towns in Minnesota and the Dakotas organized, Thursday, the Northwestern Home Trade Association, the object of which is to induce the people of the Northwest to buy their manufactured articles from factories located in that section. The scheme, of course, appeals to local pride, but will come to nothing unless it also appeals to local interest for there is no sentiment in business and if the manufacturers of the East can undersell those of the Northwest they will continue to control that market. The movement is, however, of interest as showing the growth and development of a sectional spirit in a locality which has as yet shown no signs of sectionalism.

The New York Grand Jury has begun an investigation of the Herald's charges of gross abuses in the management of the city's insane asylums and of neglect and cruel treatment of the insane. The investigation, it is announced, will be a searching one and will be continued until the jury is in possession of all information necessary to enable it to understand the exact condition of affairs. The State Commission in Lunacy will also begin an investigation of the city asylums, Thursday. The Commission has been very much prepossessed in favor of the New York asylums and has frequently directed the attention of the officers and managers of the State hospitals to them as models after which the State institutions should be patterned. It will be a rude shattering of the Commission's idols if investigation shows that the city asylums are rotten with abuses and that patients are not properly fed, clothed and cared for and will cause all thinking people to ask what the Commission's supervision avails if with all its powers it fails to discover abuses that a newspaper is able to expose with a minimum of effort.

ILLINOIS TROOPS ORDERED OUT.

Critical Condition of Affairs at La Salle and Centralia—Armed Strikers Threaten Bloodshed, if Necessary to Rescue Their Companions, Who are Under Arrest—Centralia Under Martial Law.

By United Press.

CARBONDALE, Ill., May 25.—Three hundred miners left here, this morning, for Centralia to aid in releasing the strikers arrested, yesterday, by the sheriff. They have a gatling gun, which they secured from the militia headquarters and with which they say will be more than a match for the troops ordered out by the governor.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 25—Gov. Altgeltd has ordered the militia sent to the sheriff of Marion county at Centralia, and also to the sheriff of La Salle county at La Salle.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., May 25—Five hundred armed miners started from here, this morning, for La Salle. They say they will liberate the men imprisoned there for participation in yesterday's riot or burn the jail down.

CARBONDALE, Illinois.—May 25.—Intense excitement prevails here regarding the strike of the coal miners at Carterville, Ill. A request was telegraphed to this city, last night, for help and a large crowd armed with Winchester rifles, muskets and pistols left for the scene of action. There are several hundred armed miners already congregated there and many others are tramping that way. Gravest fears are felt for the outcome as the operators are determined not to yield and the strikers demand the unconditional closing of the mines for the present.

CENTRALIA, Ill., May 25—The Duquoin strikers attacked the Centralia miners again, this morning. They opened with a fusilade of bullets on the mining company's office. The deputies returned the fire and drove the strikers off. No one was hurt. The militia have arrived and placed the town under martial law. The arrested Duquoin men spent the night in the armory.

JOLIET, Ill., May 25.—It is reported here that the striking miners who left Spring Valley, this morning, have arrived at La Salle and set fire to the coal shafts, shot a couple of deputies and leveled the jail. Militia from this city and Streator have started for La Salle.

In an address, the Mayor advised the strikers to refrain from violence. The militia are here and encamped in the vicinity of the coal mine.

LAWLESS MINERS IN IOWA.

A Shaft House Burned—Mines Seized by Marauders.

By United Press.

CRIPPLE CREEK, May 26—Strikers blew up the shaft house at the Strong mine at Victor, this morning. Twelve men are down the shaft guarding the property, but no particulars of injuries have yet been learned as all telephone lines are cut.

After wrecking the shaft house the men went over to Portland and the Independence mines, which they captured and placed under guard all the men they found there. The mauraders went thence to Ann Lee. Deputies are approaching the scene of trouble with great caution, fearing an ambuscade of dynamite.

BUTTZ GUILTY OF ATTEMPTED BRIBERY.

Report of the Investigating Committee —Senators Hunton and Kyle Exonerated No Fund to Defeat the Tariff Bill.

By United Press

WASHINGTON, May 25.—The Senatorial Investigating Committee submitted its report to the Senate, today. Buttz is found guilty of offering a bribe, despite his denial, and Senators Hunton and Kyle are exonerated.

The committee finds that Buttz offered Hunton's son a contingent fee of $25,000 to induce his father to vote against the tariff bill and that he also approached Kyle with a proposition that $14,000 would be paid the Senator if he would vote against the bill and further informed Mr. Kyle that the money was in the hands of a certain banker and capitalist of New York city.

The report adds that there is no evidence to show the truth of Buttz's statement to Kyle and others that a plot existed to defeat the tariff bill and even Buttz denied that he made such statements. The report concludes with the statement that the committee believes Buttz to be wholly untrustworthy.

DID YOU EVER TRY TO SAVE $500

Or even half of it? It was a tough job, wasn't it? You often felt like using the money, didn't you? That was because you knew you had it in your pocket or the bank. Could you save up $250 to buy a piano? Doubtful, but you wouldn't miss $10 a month if you could pay it that way and get a first-class Piano from the start.

That is just what we are in business for. Although we sell Pianos and Organs for cash, and at prices that cannot be beaten in the world, we also sell the same instruments on credit terms, asking only a small per cent. for the accommodation. It's the best and easiest way that you can secure a Piano or Organ. The latter are only $5 per month.

THE MOUNTAIN DALE TRAGEDY

Both of the Victims Still Alive and Improving.

There are no new developments in the Mountain Dale shooting affair since our report, yesterday, except that a dispatch received from that place, this morning, conveys the information that both Bresnahan and Lynch are resting comfortably and their condition is more favorable than yesterday.

Those who know the terrible nature of their wounds, however, are not ready to believe that the improvement reported is more than temporary.

THE UNKNOWN DEAD

The Man Drowned in Summit Lake Still Unidentified.

The man drowned in Summit Lake still lies in Knapp & Merritt's morgue awaiting identification and unless the body is claimed by to-morrow morning, it will be buried in Potter's Field.

Several persons have viewed the body since yesterday and some have claimed that the face was familiar, but none could tell his name, or where they had seen the man and the probabilities are that they never saw him at all.

John Lovely, the mason, says the face is familiar to him and he believes that the man at one time worked for him as a mason's helper.

If there are no new developments an inquest will be held to morrow afternoon.

Capt. Jackson Post to Attend Church.

The members of Captain Jackson Post are hereby notified to report at headquarters on Sunday evening next, 27th, inst., at 7 o'clock, to attend divine service at the Congregational Church. Every comrade is requested to be punctual.

An invitation has been extended to Captain William A. Jackson Woman's Relief Corps, No. 131, auxiliary to this Post to participate with us on this occasion.

Fast Running on the Erie

E. B. Thomas, First Vice-President of the Erie lines, made a business journey to Chicago a few days ago On the return trip his private car was attached to a special locomotive with another car, and there was some brisk traveling over the Chicago and Erie Division. At various points between Chicago and Marion, Ohio, the train whizzed along at the rate of seventy miles an hour, keeping up the pace for considerable periods of time.

An Orange County Ladies' Cycling Club

About a dozen ladies who are possessors of bicycles met at Mrs. E. J. McLaughlin's, Washingtonville, for the purpose of organizing a club. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. E. J McLaughlin. Secretary, Miss L. W. Irving; Captain, Miss G. Knapp. The club was named the Washingtonville Ladies' Cycling Club. The colors are old rose and blue.

A Thirty-four-year-old Horse.

Albert Brandt, proprietor of Hotel Brandt, at Callicoon Depot, is, says the Democrat, the owner of a horse thirty-four years old, which has been known in that vicinity for over twenty years. The horse is a grey, presents a fair appearance, eats well and is able to do a hard day's work. There are no blemishes on the animal and it could easily be palmed off on a greenhorn as a young horse.

The North Street Paving.

Mr E. A. Brown, who was awarded the contract for the paving of North street from Franklin Square to the tracks, says if the weather is fair, he will begin operations next week. The work can not be done any too soon to please business men on that street

The Injured Men Improving.

A dispatch from Mountaindale at 9 o'clock, this morning, stated that both Bresnahan and Lynch, the victims of the shooting affair, are improving.

THE FITZGERALD MURDER TRIAL.

Shohola and Lackawaxen People to Testify—The Murderess in Pursuit of Her Victim at Shohola.

George Proctor, proprietor of the Shohola Glen hotel, and F. J. Holbert, proprietor of the Delaware House, at Lackawaxen, have been subpœnaed as witnesses for the prosecution of Mrs. Fitzgerald, now on trial in New York for the murder of Mrs. Carrie Pearsall.

During the summer of 1893 Mrs. Pearsall was a guest at the Shohola Glen hotel, while Mrs Fitzgerald and her husband boarded at the Delaware House. Mrs. Fitzgerald suspected her husband of illicit relations with Mrs. Pearsall, and, during the latter's stay at Shohola, made several visits to that place with the avowed purpose of killing her.

On one of these occasions Mrs. Pearsall took refuge in a barn, and the following day, on the suggestion of Mr. Proctor, packed her trunks and left for New York city, where some months later she fell a victim to Mrs Fitzgerald's relentless and vindictive pursuit.

PORT JERVIS CHEAPER GOVERNMENT.

Some Things That They Manage Better in the Village Over the Mountain.

Why is it that the village of Port Jervis, with a population nearly as large as Middletown, can manage to get along with an appropriation of $200 for its Board of Health, while Middletown is asked to contribute $900 for its Health Board?

To all appearances the sanitary affairs of Port Jervis are looked after as well as in Middletown.

Again, why is that Port Jervis people are asked to pay but $300 for legal expenses and Middletowners are expected to pay $2,000 for the same purpose?

Middletown pays altogether too much for legal expenses considering that it has a salaried attorney, and likewise it pays too much money for what it gets in the way of services from the Health Department.

PORT JERVIS TAX ELECTION.

Every Item in the Budget Including a Steam Fire Engine Receives a Majority.

A special tax election to vote on a proposition to appropriate various sums aggregating $15,970 for expenses for the current year, were voted upon yesterday in Port Jervis and every proposition was voted. The strongest opposition was to the appropriation of $2,500 for the purchase of a steam fire engine and $2,500 for a lot and the erection of a hose tower thereon. The former had but twelve majority and the latter pulled through by a bare majority of eleven The total number of votes cast was 234.

EQUINE INTELLIGENCE AND AFFECTION.

A Horse's Prompt Recognition of a Lady, Whom He Had Not Seen for Four Years—His Affectionate Greeting.

A day or two ago, John Schlemmer, the butcher, tied his white faced, sorrel horse in front of Schwartz's restaurant. The animal stood quietly for some time, but all at once some bystanders noticed that he pricked up his ears and began watching intently two ladies who were coming up North street. When the horse first noticed the ladies they were nearly 100 feet away, and as they came nearer the animal gave evidences of excitement and stepped forward as far as his halter strap would allow. In a moment one of ladies said to her companion, "Oh, there's our old horse," and rushing up to the animal, she called him by name and began rubbing his nose and face.

The horse showed by every sign he could that he recognized the lady and returned her carresses by rubbing his head affectionately against her shoulder.

Mr. Schlemmer came upon the scene and was surprised at the show of affection between the lady and the horse. The lady explained, however, that the horse, which is now eighteen-years-old, had been in her father's family in the vicinity of Newburgh, all his life until four years ago and had always been her pet. He had recognized her sometime before she saw him and when she started away, after giving the horse a parting pat on the neck, the animal turned his head and watched her as far as he could see her.

Those who saw the incident have no doubt now that horses have intelligence, good memories and affection for those who are kind to them.

INCIDENTS AND HAPPENINGS IN GOSHEN.

Didn't Know Orange Farm Asylum Was Closed—More Seats in Music Hall Gallery—A Wedding—Business Change—Personal Notes

From our regular correspondent

—An officer from Newburgh, brought an insane man to Goshen, yesterday, and took him to Orange Farm, not knowing they no longer receive insane persons at that institution. Superintendent Monell, of course, refused to receive the man and he was brought back here and taken to Newburgh to have the necessary papers made out for his commitment to the Middletown asylum.

—Michael O'Brien, an attache of the Fairkirk Sanitarium, at Central Valley, has been spending a few days in town.

—The gallery of the Music Hall, has been enlarged, thus making some very desirable seats in the front row, which have not yet been taken for the summer night festival of the Goshen Vocal Society, June 4, 6, and 8th. Seats are on sale at C E Millspaugh's, where the chart can be seen.

—Mr. Fred Ehlers and Miss Gussie Kreag will be married Sunday. They will occupy the O'Conner house, on Greenwich street.

—Gus White shipped his Punch and Judy outfit to Matteawan, to-day, and he will go Monday, and open his season at Groveville Park, at the terminus of the Fishkill-Matteawan Electric road.

—Mr. I. W Litchfield one of the editors of the Warwick Dispatch was in town, this morning.

—H B. Levy has purchased the extensive news business of Grier Bros., and will take charge of it June 1st. He has also bought their stock of law blanks, etc., and will carry in stock all blanks that are used in this locality.

ONLY ACCOUNT WORTH READING

The "Argus" Can Beat Its Conceited Democratic and Self Exploiting Contemporaries at Their Own Game.

The Press' account was correct in every detail, Wednesday. The other accounts were from hearsay in the main and quite inaccurate.—Middletown Press.

Our special reporter who visited Mountain Dale and our local correspondent upon the spot have enabled the Times to give much fuller and more (sic) details of the affair than some of the pretentious and sensational accounts that have appeared elsewhere.—Middletown Times.

The ARGUS is not in the habit of taking to itself any special credit for printing the news; that is its business. Nor does the ARGUS attempt to belittle the efforts of other papers to report matters of public interest, but in view of the claims of the Press and Times that each of those papers had the only full and correct account of the affair at Mountain Dale, we may be pardoned this once if we step in and assert our right to whatever credit there may be for having printed the only report of the shooting that was worth reading.

Fined for Catching Under-Sized Trout.

From the Livingston Manor Enterprise.

At Roscoe, Tuesday, Fish Protector Green opened the fish basket of Wm. O'Neal, of Middletown, and found two trout under six inches in length. Before Justice Darbee, Mr. O'Neal was fined $10 In conversation with Mr. O'Neal it was learned that he will test the law as to whether a fish protector or any officer has the right to look into a fisherman's basket without consent

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened and the organs receiving the digested supply are consequently weakened

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact but treat the organs affected instead of the cause of trouble. Professor Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B. has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his labors.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the nerve and brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration dizziness, hysteria, nervous debility, St Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

SETS HIMSELF ON FIRE.

Some Past and Prospective Experiments of the Electrician Nikola Tesla.

Mr. T. C. Martin, editor of The Electrical Engineer, writing on the work of the Servian-American electrician, Nikola Tesla, says:

Mr. Tesla has advanced the opinion and sustained it by brilliant experiments of startling beauty and grandeur that light and heat are produced by electrostatic forces acting between charged molecules or atoms. Perfecting a generator that would give him currents of several thousand alternations per second and inventing his disruptive discharge coil, he has created electrostatic conditions that have already modified not a few of the accepted notions about electricity

It has been supposed that ordinary currents of 1,000 or 2,000 volts potential would surely kill, but Mr. Tesla has been seen receiving through his hands currents at a potential of more than 200,000 volts, vibrating a million times per second and manifesting themselves in dazzling streams or light. This is not a mere tour de force, but illustrates the principle that while currents of lower frequency destroy life these are harmless. After such a striking test, which, by the way, no one has displayed a hurried inclination to repeat, Mr. Tesla's body and clothing have continued for some time to emit fine glimmers, or halos, of splintered light In fact, an actual flame is produced by this agitation of electrostatically charged molecules, and the curious spectacle can be seen of puissant, white, ethereal flames that do not consume anything bursting from the ends of an induction coil as though it were the bush on holy ground.

With such vibrations as can be maintained by a potential of 5,000,000 volts Mr. Tesla expects some day to envelop himself in a complete sheet of luminous fire that will leave him quite uninjured Such currents as he now uses would, he says, keep a naked man warm at the north pole, and their use in therapeutics is but one of the practical possibilities that has been taken up.—Century.

Artesian Wells In South Dakota.

Mr. Duncan McFarlane of South Dakota was talking of the great artesian wells fed, it is supposed, by snow from the Rockies, following the porous sandstone at a depth of from 800 to 1,300 feet below the surface of the ground, and told many interesting stories. He instanced one case of a town's having bored for water, and after hard work having secured a well from which the water would hardly rise to the surface. One Sunday, though, the well broke loose, and as the water flowed away under the snow its course could be marked by the steam rising into the air The water made its way to a farm a few miles from town and there settled. The owner came post haste to town, and consulting a lawyer was told that he had a first rate basis for damages.

The suit was instituted. The snow disappeared, the water had been controlled finally by the town, and the farm remained a great mudbank. The farmer was almost in despair, but finally decided to put in a crop anyhow. Hot weather came, and the country suffered for rain. That mudbank contained sufficient deposit of moisture, and the crop was in fine condition. The farmer made his way again to town

"Say, Jno," he remarked to his attorney, "how is that suit getting along"

"Oh, it is coming along all right," was the reply, "but I believe the court will deduct the amount of the damages from the price of your crop and award the rest of your profits to the town."—Washington News

The Lottery In Spain.

The great prize in the Spanish National lottery was won by a butcher at Saragossa, who seems to have borne his stroke of fortune in a very proper spirit. His total gain would have amounted to about $350,000 had he taken the whole risk himself, but he had split up his ticket among a couple of hundred partners in varying proportions, so that his own share is not so considerable. However, he generously gave $400 to the official who paid the money, and $200 to a blind man who shouted out the lucky number at the door of the office, his next care being to distribute meat gratis to everybody living in his quarter of the town. Not a few stories are told in the Spanish papers as to the effect on different individuals of this sudden bit of luck One of the beneficiaries was a nurse in the family of a poverty stricken infanta, captain who rarely paid her wages. On the receipt of the $10,000 that fell to her share she at once handed the amount over to her master, exclaiming, "You shall not know want after today. We can all of us live on the money."—Paris Herald.

Hard Times and Economy.

It is a great mistake for people who can at all afford to spend liberally to practice economy in hard times. On one occasion during the second empire, when there was a great financial depression, Louis Napoleon commanded his ministers to open their houses and entertain profusely, and the court circles, taking the hint, began such a round of gayety that trade revived, while the manufacturers, plucking up courage, opened their mills, and a crisis was averted. Spending is as much a duty with the rich as saving is with the poor, and it takes both attributes to make a prosperous community.—New York Tribune.

Variety Necessary.

The man who thinks a newspaper should be made up exclusively of reading matter suited to his particular whims and prejudices is pretty hard to please. He forgets that there are others interested in subjects which he deems obnoxious. All kinds of people read newspapers, and they must be various in the kinds of news published.—Franklin (N. Y.) News

A New Blind Worm.

Among the other interesting addresses which were made at the meeting of the Academy of Natural Sciences the other evening was one by Professor Edward D. Cope on a peculiar species of blind worm, a new variety discovered in the south. It is a curious subterranean little thing with almost invisible eyes, and it is found in the nests of ants and termites, on which it feeds. The scientific name for the family is chirotidae, and Professor Cope has named the new variety Enchirotes biporus, as two pores near the tail distinguish it from other species, as does also the fact that it has anterior but no posterior legs.

Professor Cope also talked about the lungs of snakes of different species, some having two lungs, some only one, and others, especially the venomous kinds, showing scarcely any signs of lungs at all.—Philadelphia Press

White Hosiery and Glory.

"We will win this pennant," said Captain Anson with the firmness born of confidence. "We will return to white hosiery."

In the old days, when the Chicago baseball club used to float a pennant every season Mr. Anson's players were colloquially known as "the White Stockings." For years the glimpse of mufti pants of stout legs incased in white struck terror to the souls of opposing teams The white sock was the sign of victory upon the field

This is why Captain Babe Anson determined to revert to white hose. His logic is unmistakable. He and his team once were white hose, result, victory. Then they wore another color of hose, result, defeat. Now is stockings are in white again. Who can doubt the consequences.—Chicago Record for Infants and Children.

CASTORIA

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

TOLD BY JOSEPH JEFFERSON.

Some Things He Recently Spoke at the Authors' Club.

"Our chairman said something tonight about the lovely lack of jealousy among authors and its prevalence among my and allied professions. I must dissent from the view. Why, have you not all observed the harmony which prevailed among the operatic stars whose season recently closed at the Metropolitan Opera House? [Laughter.] And then take it in my own profession. If an actor is discharged from a company, are there not always plenty of his fellow actors ready to take his part? [After a silence, laughter.]

"Preparation, to return to my text, is most essential in the players' profession. If we are not prepared, we cannot retrace, retract nor repair. The speech once delivered cannot be recalled. You authors may correct and revise, the painter can scratch out and paint over, but how would it seem in me to pause after a speech on the stage, scratch my chin and say: 'That inflection was not quite right. I will deliver that line again'?

"Possibly I may have paid too much attention to preparation in my profession. One critic has abused me frequently for that, and he laments that I leave nothing to chance. That worries him, but I assure him he is right. I never leave anything to chance.

"I will confess between ourselves that I did needlessly prepare for one occasion. Mr. Florence and I had been playing together in comedy, and when the time approached for our final appearance together Mr. Florence said, and it seemed reasonable to me, that as the audience would doubtless call us out and demand speeches at the conclusion of our last performance we should prepare something. So we did. We rehearsed it all very carefully. Mr. Florence was to be first taken by surprise, and, overcoming his emotions, make a farewell address, in which he was to refer to me. Then I was to be taken by surprise, but suppressing my swelling feelings I was to answer Mr. Florence and wind up the impromptu scene."

Mr. Jefferson paused, lifted his wineglass, put it back on the table and added:

"But the audience did not call us out after that performance. [Laughter.] But that was no excuse for a mistake Florence made afterward. He was playing in what we call the New England circuit—Hartford, New Haven, etc. One night he was called out after the performance and said:

"'This is a mark of approbation which peculiarly touches me. I know many of the men before me—know them personally. I played marbles with them under the shadow of the Hartford Baptist church, shared their boyhood joys and sorrows, and I assure you that I shall never forget this last act of kindness which you people of Hartford'—

"Just then a voice from the gallery interrupted him:

"'This is New Haven, Mr. Florence.' [Laughter.]

"Preparation is essential. Once a manager was obliged to apologize to an audience for the nonappearance of the leading man, who had been suddenly called to another city by the death of his mother.

"It happened that the manager that evening was suffering from a tired feeling. He was a trifle unsteady as to knees and legs, but his dignity stood firm on both feet. He said:

"'The leading man, gentlemen and ladies, for—this is first time such has to be made this theater, but—well, anyway, man's mother is dead. Never before occurred this theater disappoint audience, and—you see man's mother is dead. I regret that after 30 years' experience manager, theater audience—which I mean to say man's mother is dead, but shall never occur again.'"

Mr. Jefferson told the story in a voice so visibly affected by the disability the manager suffered from that all his hearers reached for their glasses.—New York Sun.

Rescue—Marriage.

"Help!"

The girl who was drowning shrieked wildly. Her voice was borne across the waves to the man on the beach.

"Help! Help!"

He shook his head.

"Impossible," he answered, raising his hand for a speaking trumpet. "Consider the disparity in our ages, and, besides, what would your folks say?"

Presently he could still save the memory of the woman, and gazed across the strand.—Detroit Tribune.

No Second Chance.

It was a hot morning.

The stranger shuddered and wiped the beads of perspiration from his brow.

"Good heavens!" he said. "Another moment and then"—

It was several moments before he recovered sufficiently to resume his task.

For once again he had come within an ace of dipping the mucilage brush in the ink.—Truth.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to all persons interested, that Tuesday, June 12th, 1894, at [illegible] p. m., and the Common Council Chambers on [illegible] street, Middletown, N. Y., be and are hereby designated as the time and place when and where the application of the Middletown-Goshen Traction Company to the Common Council of the city of Middletown, N. Y., will first be considered for consent and permission of said Common Council, for the construction, maintenance, operation and extension by the said petitioners of a street surface Railroad, in the manner and form as provided by law, through the following [illegible] streets, to wit:

Beginning at the intersection of Academy avenue and [illegible] avenue, [illegible] [illegible] thence along [illegible] avenue [illegible] northerly side of [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] avenue, [illegible] avenue, [illegible] [illegible] intersecting the Academy avenue line with the [illegible] line of the said railroad company.

Also beginning at Lake avenue, at the intersection of [illegible] street, thence [illegible] [illegible] street from Lake avenue to [illegible] street; thence through [illegible] [illegible] street to Cross street; thence through [illegible] street to a [illegible] [illegible] from Chestnut street, as follows, to wit:

Said street beginning at an iron rod driven in the ground at the westerly line of Chestnut street, as now laid out, said rod being [illegible] feet measured along said westerly line of Chestnut street from the point of intersection of the westerly line of Chestnut street with the easterly line of [illegible] street as now laid out and measured from thence [illegible] degrees [illegible] [illegible] to crossing [illegible] street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., O. & W. R. R. and over the said railroad. Said street being [illegible] feet in width and [illegible] feet on each side of the above described center line, extending from the westerly line of Chestnut street to the westerly right of way line of the N. Y., L. E. & W. R. R. and connecting Chestnut street with Cornelia street, as now laid out.

Thence through, along, and upon the last described route or highway, as now laid out or to be laid out, to said Cornelia street; thence through, along and upon Cornelia street, as now laid out or to be laid out, to [illegible] [illegible] connecting the Lake avenue line with the [illegible] [illegible] lines of said company, and also to consent to such switches and turnouts as may be necessary for the working of such road, as are by the necessary rules and [illegible] the [illegible] along and upon said named streets and avenues.

By order of the Common Council.

SHOTS HERE AND THERE.

AN "ARGUS" MAN OFF DUTY AIMS AT SEVERAL SUBJECTS.

The New England Almanac as a Weather Prognosticator—Curious Circumstance That Established Its Reputation—A Week of Clouds and Rain—Effects on Vegetation and the Country Roads—A Castle in Ireland.

The New England Almanac has been published for 122 years and is still in great vogue among the people of the New England States who, especially the farmers, place implicit faith in its weather predictions. And the queer thing about it is that no number of failures seems to weaken in the least popular faith in the infallibility of the Almanac's guesses at the weather, which rests upon a peculiar accident that forced the publication to such a crucial test of its powers of estimating meteorological probabilities that its gift of prevision has never since been seriously called in question.

The Hartford Times gives the accepted version of the Almanac's firm establishment in popular credit as follows:

"There is a tradition in New England that this little book is infallible. It had its origin sixty years ago. Nathan Daboll was the almanac maker then, and by a dreadful typographical blunder he was made to predict snow for the Fourth of July. Everybody laughed at Nathan, which made him angry There was no way for him to explain, however, and things ran along until the great day came. Then, when the farmers were thinking of getting at the wheat, the sky became overcast and filled with white feathery flakes. Since then the prognostications of the 'Farmers' Friend' have never been questioned."

This is the seventh day of this "rainy season" and although the Weather Bureau predicts that the sun will shine again, to-day, at the time of writing this, high noon, the clouds are thick and lowering and it seems as if rain might fall at any moment. It is, however, an encouraging sign that the wind which has been easterly all the week has veered around to the west, and it never takes a west wind long to blow the clouds away. I notice that the Herald, which devotes special attention to the weather, says that there is no storm of any consequence now in sight anywhere in the United States and that a warm wave reported in Oregon and British Columbia will probably move eastward, so that from the early part of next week we will have fair, warm weather.

While I admit that a week of such weather as we have had is rather trying on humanity, and apt to develop the blues, rheumatism, and all sorts of moral and physical cantankerousness, I am not blind to the fact that a week of such weather is just what was needed by vegetation and its value to the farmers of this country cannot be estimated. In this section, no great amount of rain fell until the downpour of Wednesday night, but the overcast sky and the moisture-laden atmosphere made every drop of rain that had fallen worth what a dozen drops would have been had a few days of hot weather with a fresh, drying breeze followed the storm of Sunday All vegetation has found just the conditions for growth in the moisture-reeking air and fields which were beginning to turn brown are now fresher and greener than they were earlier in the season and the grass crop which for a few days was threatened with failure, is now assured.

We think some of our city streets, North street for instance, are in bad shape, but I am told that its condition isn't a circumstance to that of some country roads which have been worked by machines. The mud and muck scraped from the gutters into the roadway has been transformed into the thinnest kind of slush, through which horses wade, splashing the liquid nastiness in all directions I noticed some farmers' teams on the streets to-day that were splashed with mud even to their heads, while the wagons to which they were attached were literally covered with mud and their drivers' coats,—well they will never be clean again.

Thomas Nevins, of Orange N. J., an Irishman who came to this country without a ha'penny and who has made a million or more by lucky contracts, has bought the fine old Kalleen Castle in Ireland, the seat of the Earl of Fingal, paying for the estate, which includes the castle and about 1,500 acres of land, $300,000 The castle was built in the eleventh century by Hugh DeLacey, a celebrated architect of those times. It has been in the possession of the family of the Earl of Fingal ever since The castle was once occupied by King John and during the Cromwellian revolution was partly destroyed and then rebuilt It was remodelled about eighty years ago and again about five years since It is now rented for the hunting season at a monthly rent of £400 Mr Nevins was born near Castle Killeen and says that he bought it not because he thinks castles particularly desirable as places of residence but to spite some of the aristocrats who wouldn't have deigned to notice such a poor fellow as he was when Ireland was his home. He expects to go to Ireland with his family early next year and says, "I'll hoist the American flag over the castle, and let Johnny Bull see what a good looking bit of bunting it is."

WERE BOUND TO RUNAWAY.

A Carman's Team Ran Away Twice Within a Few Minutes—Prevented from a Third Trial by Careful Watching.

J. Whitfield Thompson, the carman, owns a team of horses who made up their minds, yesterday afternoon, to indulge in the luxury of a runaway, and not satisfied with a first attempt took a second "back" at it and would doubtless have tried it again while the spirit was moving them, if they had not been carefully watched.

The team was driven in front of Hurtin's store on East Main street and the wagon was loaded with boxes. Hugh Boyd was in charge of the team and had just mounted the seat when the horses started to run down the street.

Mr. Boyd jumped off but a small boy who was on the load of boxes kept his seat until the wagon struck a post at the corner of Academy avenue when he was thrown into the air and sat down on a cushion of mud about six inches deep without being injured in the least. The boxes were scattered along the street in a reckless manner.

The horses ran to the East Main street crossing, but a passing train barred their progress and they were caught and driven back to the store, the scattered boxes being picked up on the way.

The horses behaved very well until the wagon was reloaded and Mr. Boyd had taken his seat and picked up the lines when they started again One of the lines broke and with the other Mr Boyd pulled the horses against the terrace of G. B. Adams' property on the opposite side of the street, when the wagon struck a tree throwing out Mr. Boyd who in his fall had one of his hands badly cut.

The horses then started down East Main street again at their best speed and ran across the Erie and O. and W. tracks before they were caught.

This time they were led back, the load replaced and with a man at the bit of each horse they were led away and the boxes delivered at their destination.

THE BLUE GRASS KING

Mr James H. Wallick's New Play at the Casino, Monday Night.

A new departure in the theatrical world is announced in the presentation of a new play by the sterling melodramatic star Jas. H. Wallick Its title is "The Blue Grass King," from the name of the hero, one of Morgan's Raider Captains, which role Mr. Wallick is eminently fitted to portray—his physique and dramatic powers admirably suiting the part.

Located in the famous blue grass region of southern Kentucky, on a blooded stock farm, the play offers fine opportunities for the display of stage craft, which this playwright, Malcolm Stuart Taylor, has duly taken advantage of—in the way of beautiful scenic effects, mechanical marvels and thrilling tableaux With a strong and well developed plot, a pure, patriotic motive, lots of original comedy element and several ultra sensational situations, such as the burning of a stock farm stable, the execution of a spy, and the leap for liberty and life, the piece is sure to make a hit with the gallery gods at least. Last, but not least, is the wonderful performance of Mr. Wallick's trained steeds, introduced as incidental to the plot, showing as they do, the acme of animal acting in their respective parts. Altogether "The Blue Grass King" promises much in the way of novelty, and should prove a strong attraction at the Casino next Monday night.

Prospecting for Coal in the Delaware Valley.

W. P Holbert, of Binghamton, on whose farm at Equinunk, Pa., an outcropping of coal was discovered, last fall, will have a test hole sunk, next week, to determine whether the vein is a thin one or whether there is coal in sufficient quantities to pay for sinking a shaft. Scranton miners, who are to sink the hole, say the surface indications are that the vein is of good size.

THE WORKING GIRL.

Miss Sallie Palmer Gives Some Suggestions to Girls About Backache, Faintness, and Dizziness.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Did you ever notice working girls on their way home from stores or factories? Did you notice how many of them had pale cheeks, dull eyes, and heavy steps? and did you wonder why they were not ruddy and bright? The story which is told by Miss Sallie Palmer, of Nicetown, Pa, gives the reason for this sad condition of many working girls.

MISS SALLIE PALMER

Sometimes their back and sides will ache terribly They are faint and dizzy with pain and weight in the lower part of their stomach. They watch the clock, and wish that the day would end, as they feel so ill and tired

Standing all day, week in and week out, they have slowly drifted into woman's great enemy, displacement of the womb. That, or some other derangement of the organ, causes irregularity or suspension of the "monthly periods," bloating, flooding, or nervous prostration.

"ADAMANT" WALL PLASTER!

The New, Cheap Substitute for Common Plaster.

It is very hard and very adhesive; it does away with the warping and shrinkage of doors and casings, and the building is not saturated with water, as is necessarily must be when common plaster is used, it costs originally but little more than lime plaster, and in the end its superior qualities make it immeasurably cheaper; it saves waiting several weeks or months for the buildings to dry out; it does not crack or fall off, even in the case of leakage; it is applied easily by any good plasterer, it is the only material with which repairing can be done easily and "to stay."
